Jason & Sheevani's production studio is in trouble. Their hopes of making a movie feel all but impossible as bills continue to stack up. In one last ditch effort, they decide to try studio rentals.

Weddings. Bake sales. Karate classes. Raves. The studio belongs to anyone with a dream and a down payment. With reckless abandon, our heroes fling their doors open to the public.

What transpires takes them on a journey they could've never dreamed: Old flames. Porn stars. A male dance team. Electric surges. A Keurig with a 40% success rate. And magic (Jason hates goddamn magic).
